Chase music.

Narrator: David had killed Goliath.
Chorus: Hurray!
Narrator: The Israelites were free.
Chorus: Hurray.
Narrator: David was a hero.
Chorus: Hurray.
Narrator: and Saul, the king, took David home with him.
Saul: Come on my boy, come and live in the royal palace.
Narrator: So together they rode to the palace. Everyone came out to meet them.
Chorus: David! David! David! Hurray!
Narrator: Jonathan, King Saul's son, became David's special friend.
Jonathan: We'll be friends for ever,
David: for ever and ever.
Chorus: Ahhhhhh.
Narrator: Every thing should have been good, but there was a problem.
Chorus: A problem? What's that?
Narrator: Well it was King Saul. You see he thought.....
Saul: This David chap is becoming more popular than me. People like him more than me. This just won't do. David will have to go!
Narrator: One day David was playing the Harp, when Saul picked up a spear and tried to kill David.
Saul: (picking up spear). I'll get you you little ....
David: HELP?!

(Saul chases David round as chase music plays).

Narrator: But David got away and Saul gave up.
Saul: I'll get you next time!
Narrator: So Saul hatched a plot.
Chorus: Cluck, cluck (general chicken noises)
Narrator: Er hem! So Saul made a plan.
Chorus: Oh!
Saul: David, here is my daughter Merab, you can marry her, but only if you will go out with the army and fight the Philistines.
Narrator: but secretly Saul hoped that David would be killed in battle.

Chorus: Boo!
Narrator: But to be quite honest, David didn't fancy Merab, so he said.
